DURRANT'S REMAINS TO BE CREMATED

MURDERER IS TO BE REDUCED TO ASHES

That Seems To Be The Plan of The Parents of The Remarkable Man Who Walked Calmly To His Death Yesterday at the San Quentin Prison.

San Quentin, Cal., Jan. 8.—When William Henry Theodore Durrant died on the gallows Friday morning for the murder of Blanche Lamont he gave such an exhibition of coolness and nerve as has seldom been seen under similar circumstances. Hopeful almost to the very last minute that something or some one would intervene to save him, he walked to the scaffold and made a brief speech protesting his innocence as calmly and with as distinct enunciation as if he had been addressing an assemblage of friends upon some ordinary topic of the day.

There was not a hitch or accident in carrying out the sentence of the law. The noose was adjusted, the trap was sprung, the stout rope held and Durrant's dead body dangled at the end. The neck was broken by the fall of five feet, and fifteen minutes later the murderer's body was cut down and placed in the coffin.

In spite of the exciting events of Thursday night, when Durrant was beseiged by newspaper reporters and talked to his parents until 11.30 p. m., he rested well during the night, and shortly after 6 o'clock he awoke and bade his guards good morning. Warden Hale had provided a new suit of dark material for the occasion, and these clothes Durrant quickly donned. Then he sat down to breakfast and ate heartily. During the early morning hours Durrant did not have much to say beyond expressing a desire that no newspaper men should be allowed to see him. This request was complied with.

Durrant died professing religion. But at the last moment he accepted the comforts of the Catholic church instead of those of the Baptist faith, in which he was reared. The Rev. Reder, a Protestant minister, had arranged to ascend the scaffold with Durrant, but the minister would not say that he thought Durrant innocent and the condemned man declined to accept his services and called upon Father Lagan, a priest who had frequently visited him in prison, to attend him. Father Legan responded promptly and performed the last solemn rites of the church. Durrant remained in close consultation with the priest and seemed to be deeply interested in the impressive ceremony.

As the hour of the execution approached the prisoner became somewhat restless. His father and mother were admitted to bid him a last farewell. The elder Durrant grasped his son by the hand, and the young man then turned to comfort his mother, who cried hysterically. Durrant embraced her tenderly, and saying, "The hour has come for us to part," put her gently away. The grief-stricken mother was led to a private room, where she remained until after the execution. The father, however, went to the execution room, and, supported, by two friends, saw his son meet death.

At 10:34 o'clock Durrant, accompanied by Father Lagan, appeared at the door of the execution room. He was followed by his father, a friend, Warden Hale and the guards. The father and his friend walked around the gallows to the front, while Durrant and his keepers climbed to the gallows platform. Instantly on arriving at the gallows his legs and arms were pinioned and the rope was placed upon his neck.

The hangman was about to adjust the black cap when Durrant announced his desire to speak. Permission was given, and the doomed murderer spoke as follows:

"I desire to say that although I am an innocent man—innocent of every crime that has been charged against me—I bear no animosity toward those that have persecuted me, not even the press of San Francisco, which hounded me to the grave. If any man thinks I am going to create a sensation, I am not, except it is a sensation that I am an innocent man brought to the grave by my persecutors. But I forgive them all. They will get their justice from the great God, who is Master of us all, and there I also expect to get justice—that is, the justice of an innocent man. Whether or not the perpetrators of the crime of which I am charged are discovered it will make no difference to me now, but I say this day will be a shame to the great state of California. I forgive everybody who has persecuted me, an innocent man, whose hands have never been stained with blood, and I go to meet my God with forgiveness for all men."

Durrant finished quietly, and had scarcely ceased when the black cap was placed over his face. At the same instant Hangman Lunt raised his hand, the trap was sprung, and with a rattle Durrant's body shot through the opening. There was a sound as of a stout rope drawn taut, and a broken-necked criminal swayed to and fro for a moment, when the body became motionless. The crowd surged forward, but the warden's voice was heard to exclaim, "Stand back." The doctors were permitted to go forward. They felt the pulse, and finally decided that Durrant was dead.

It is not yet known what disposition will be made of the body, as Durrant's parents have been so far unable to secure accommodations in any of the local cemeteries for the body of their son. It is very probable that the body will be cremated.

APPEALS TO CONGRESS.

Committee of the American Federation Issues an Address.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The legislative committee of the Federation of Labor, by direction of the seventeenth annual convention of the federation, held in Nashville in December last, has issued an address to the members of the LVth congress. The address says:

"We urge your earnest consideration of and your best efforts in enacting into law the following measures:

"1. An eight-hour workday on all public works. Such law to provide that all contracts or sub-contracts for materials furnished or work done must contain a proviso that eight hours shall be the maximum labor of any one individual in any one calendar day. Further, that it shall be the duty of officials vested with the power of signing such contract to withhold their signatures until such proviso is inserted therein.

"2. In order to stop the indiscriminate and dangerous use of the writ of injunction, we urge the adoption of senate bill 35.

"3. In order in some degree to lessen the competition of convict labor, we urge the adoption of a law to prohibit the transportation of prison-made goods from one state into any other state or territory.

"4. We urge the adoption of a reasonable law to restrict undesirable immigration, such law to be based upon an educational qualification."

Prof. Dudley Is Arrested.

Santa Cruz, Cal., Jan. 8.—Prof. William Russell Dudley of Stanford university was arrested at Watsonville Friday by Constable Pratt of Capitola, charged with passing counterfeit $10 gold pieces. About two weeks ago a counterfeiter succeeded in dropping a number of bogus coins in several places. Officers had been on the lookout for the offender since he operated here, and Constable Pratt, having an accurate description of the man, saw Dudley at Capitola and followed him to Watsonville, where he had gone by train. He has been identified by two or three of the victims. The case is regarded as one of mistaken identity.

Indiana Banker Indicted.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Byrd Thompson, president of the Farmers' Bank at Walkertown, Ind., and prominent in social circles of that town, is under indictment by the grand jury. He is charged with attempting to operate a confidence game. The evidence upon which the banker was held was related to the grand jury by Miss Myrtle Northam, assistant cashier of the Farmers' Bank, and Grosvenor A. Harper, president of the Chicago Security and Trust Company, 188 Madison street. Thompson says it is a blackmailing scheme on the part of an enemy.

Gov. Tanner Signs One Bill.

Spingfield, Ill., Jan. 8.—Gov. Tanner has signed the bill making an additional appropriation of $30,000 per annum for the maintenance of the Soldiers and Sailors' home at Quincy.

It had been expected that the senatorial apportionment bill would be approved Friday; but it transpired, after Lieut.-Gov. Northcott and Speaker Curtis had left town, that the engrossed copy of the bill lacked their signatures. The governor's approval, therefore, will be postponed until next week.

Hohenlohe's Party In Danger.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—Prince Hohenlohe's committee on commercial treaties is on the verge of a party conflict. The reports submitted show that the extent of the export trade has been greatly exaggerated, and that Germany's home market is of much greater importance and worthy government protection. Should the completed statistics bear out these reports the committee's labors will be practically lost.

To Unite Methodist Forces.

Washington, Jan. 8.—An assembly of eighteen representatives of the Methodist Episcopal church in the United States is now in session at Foundry Methodist Episcopal church in this city for the purpose of effecting a union of forces between the two branches of the church, north and south. This assembly consists of three bishops, three ministers and three laymen from each branch of the church.

Men of Mark Are Going.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—The executive committee of the Indianapolis monetary convention which will reconvene here Jan. 25, is receiving notification of the appointment of delegates by the commercial bodies of most of the important cities of the country. Some of the cities in the free-silver states in the west are declining to appoint delegates. Leslie M. Shaw, governor-elect of Iowa, will preside.

Cullom to Remain Senator.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Senator Cullom, whose name has been frequently used in connection with the chairmanship of the interstate commerce commission, vacated by Colonel Morrison, said last night that he had not the slightest intention of filling the office. It is well known, however, that the President has several times intimated to the senator that he might have the place.

ALLEN WOULD COIN PLENTY OF SILVER

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED IN THE SENATE.

Wants the Ratio 16 to 1—Civil Service Debate Continued in Both Branches Of Congress—Retaliaton Tariff on French Goods Proposed—Cabinet Meeting Held.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The feature of the senate session Friday was a speech delivered by Mr. Teller (Col.). Mr. Teller quoted from Secretary Gage's statement before the house banking and currency committee, indicating that it was the desire of the secretary to commit the country thoroughly to the gold standard. He referred in terms of respect to the secretary personally, and expressed his gratification that Mr. Gage had the courage of his convictions and was willing to stand squarely upon his opinions. He added:

"I should like to bring about international bimetallism, and I think I have done as much to bring it about as any man in this chamber, if I except the senator who sits in front of me (Allison). When he returned from Europe, however, without success, I felt that it was practically useless to proceed further in that direction. The policy of the Republican party is not such as is demanded by a great and free people. I have had no quarrel with the president of the United States, but he stands for the gold standard, a policy which in my judgment will impoverish and wreck our people."

The civil-service debate continued throughout the day in the house. All efforts to fix a time for its termination failed, and it is certain now to run over into next week. The interest in the discussion does not seem to be waning. The debate was without marked incident. The speakers were Messrs. Gillette (Mass.), Burton (Ohio), Republicans, and Fitzgerld (Dem., Mass.), in support of the law; Messrs. Cummings (Dem., N. Y.), Faris (Rep., Ind.), Mahoney (Rep., N. Y.), Driggs (dem., N. Y.), and Bradley (Dem., N. Y.), in opposition to, and Mr. Kerr (Rep., Ohio), in favor of the modification of the law.

Mr. Allen of Nebraska offered a resolution declaring that the United States should, independently and without delay, begin and continue the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1; that such coinage should be supplemented by a safe and sound national paper money, to be issued by the government without intervention of banks, the notes to be full legal tender and to be issued in an amount sufficient to meet the business demands of the country; that any increase of the interest-bearing debt should be prohibited and that no government bonds should be issued or sold except by specific act of congress, and then only in cases of pressing necessity; that the government in the discharge of its obligations should use its option as to the kind of lawful money in which they should be paid, and that such option should never be surrendered.

Belknap's Retaliatory Bill.

Washington, Jan. 8.—A bill was introduced in the house Friday by Representative Belknap of Chicago proposing retaliatory steps against France if the plan of the French government for an increase of duties on American meat products is carried out. The bill authorizes an increase of duty on articles brought from France in amount equivalent to the additional duties imposed on American products. The effect of this move, if carried out, it is said, would be to give the trade of Germany, Italy and Great Britain important advantages over that of France.

Discuss Eastern Question.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The cabinet meeting Friday was attended by all the members except Secretary Alger, who is still confined to his house by illness. The most important matter considered was the eastern situation, which was discussed at some length. It appeared to be the opinion of the secretary of state and the members generally that the gravity of the situation was overestimated. The opinion was also expressed that the interests of the United States in China were not at present in any sense involved, nor were they likely to be.

Honors An American Author.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—The German naval department has ordered that a translation of Captain Mahan's "Influence of Sea Power in History" be supplied to all the public libraries, schools, and government institutions.

JOHN SPIVAK of Chicago is in town.

WAS THE BEST YEAR FOR BUSINESS MEN

FAILURES THE FEWEST EVER DEFINITELY KNWOWN.

Speculators Disappointed—Forty Per Cent of the Wheat Crop of the Country Said to Be Still in the Hands of the Farmers—Wool Prices Are Good

New York, Jan. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

"In failures 1897 was not only the best year since 1892, but on the whole the best ever definitely known. With 13,522 failures, in number 11.5 per cent less than 1896, and $182,581,771 defaulted liabilities, 34 per cent less than in 1896, the year's banking failures counted for $28,249,700, and the commercial failures were but 13,351, with liabilities of $154,332,071, the average per failure being only $11,559, the lowest ever known except in 1892. But even in that year the failures during the last half averaged liabilities of $10,477 per failure, while in the last half of 1897 the average was only $9,593. The returns by branches of business show that in fifteen out of twenty-eight classes the failures were lower than in any previous year of which there is record.

"The new year began with disappointment for speculators in stocks and grain, which is not a bad sign. Prices of stocks have gained a little, after yielding at first, and close 73 cents a share higher for railroads and $1.05 a share higher for trusts. Wheat declined 1¾ cents, owing to the termination of the corner at Chicago. A speculative estimate makes the quantity still in farmers' hands 40 per cent of the crop. A fleet of vessels is reported at Baltimore, or on the way thither, for wheat. Cotton was a disappointment to many because it did not change at all in spot price, although the accounts of reductions in wages by New England works warrant hope of larger consumption. The woolen and worsted mills are both buying wool quite largely at prices probably close to the best.

"Failures for the week have been 322 in the United States, against 471 last year, and in Canada 32, against 62 last year."

MAY SETTLE ON KURTZ.

Latest Scheme to Unite the Democrats and Anti-Hanna Men.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 8.—Friday was a quiet day among the army of political workers enlisted in the senatorial contest, but it was productive of some important developments. The situation is practically unchanged, however. The efforts of the steering committee to whip the Democratic members of the legislature into line to vote for a Republican for senator have not been so successful as they expected. As a result it is stated authoritatively that there will be a caucus of the Democratic members Monday night. The purpose of the caucus is to locate the doubtful members and pledge those who are willing to carry out the proposed fusion so that enough members can be kept in line to insure the maintenance of a deadlock should one be forced.

The best information is that Mr. Kurtz will be proposed as the candidate of the opposition both for the long and the short term. It is believed by the Democratic leaders now that Mr. Kurtz will be more acceptable to the majority of the Democratic members of the legislature than any other man.

Dead Man at the Throttle.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—S. H. Gipe, an engineer on a Panhandle engine, was found sitting in his engine cab Friday morning with his throat cut. The theory was advanced that he was caught by a clinker hook from a passing engine, but this was soon upset, as the blood was clotted all around his neck when found. As the fireman was out of the cab at the time the freight engine passed, no light can be thrown on the mystery.

Corpse Cut Into Little Bits.

Chariton, Iowa, Jan. 8.—Representatives of the Adams Express Company opened an ill-smelling box here Friday, having become alarmed at the strong odors, and found the remains of a human body cut into bits. The box stood several days in the express office, and the officers becoming suspicious, pried off the lid. They were nearly knocked down by the stench. There is no clew to the mystery.

National Eight-Hour Law.

Boston, Jan. 7.—The National Loom-Fixers' association conference adopted a resolution calling for a national eight hour law and indorsing Congressman Lovering's bill for uniform hours of labor in all states of this country. It also resolved that all industries should be placed in the hands of the national government. A resolution was adopted calling for a national referendum law.

Miners Demand More Wages.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 8.—The Ohio miners' convention Friday went on record in favor of a differential between Ohio and Pittsburg low coal fields. They released members who are preachers from dues, refused to adopt an eight-hour record, and demanded an advance on the present scale of prices, three-fifths of the price of pick mining to be allowed for machine mining.

JAPAN JOINS BRITAIN.

Fleet of Her Warships Ready to Whip Russia.

London, Jan. 8.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that a Japanese fleet of three battleships, ten first-class cruisers and numerous smaller vessels has received orders practically placing it at the disposal of Sir Alexander Buller, British commander in chief of the China station, this step being taken "in case Russia persists in ignoring the joint interests of Great Britain and Japan."

EMPRESS OF JAPAN.

BIG BLAZE IN BERLIN.

Great Borgis Flour Mill Is Completely Destroyed by Fire.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—The Borgis flour mills, one of the largest plants of the kind in this country, which ground on an average 500,000 kilos of grain, took fire Friday night and were completely destroyed.

The cause of the conflagration is supposed to have been spontaneous combustion. The great plant was a veritable fire trap, and the flames spread with wonderful rapidity, quickly enveloping the entire structure. The entire fire department and half of the police force were called out, but they were unable to control the flames.

All Berlin seemed to be out to witness the fire. They rushed to the Hausa Viertel in thousands and a panic ensued in the tenement houses nearby.

A number of small fires were started by the flying sparks, but they were extinguished by the crowds and the fire department as soon as they were discovered. All the firemen could do was to save same of the factories and business houses in the neighborhood of the big mill. The loss is estimated in the millions.

Mills' Sentence Is Affirmed.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 8.—The Supreme court has affirmed the sentences of B. F. Mills and Ezra Whitney to five and two and a half years in the penitentiary for embezzlement. Whitney was treasurer of Harland county. Mills was a banker in that county. Mills borrowed from Whitney some thousands of dollars of county money. His bank failed and he could not return the funds. He was found guilty of sharing in the public money and the Supreme court affirmed his sentence. The decision was a great surprise and made many others anxious, who persuaded defaulting public officials to loan them money which they have not returned.

Hits Canadian Roads.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The interstate commerce commission has decided to take steps to compel the publication of and adherence to the through rates charged on goods sent in bond through Canada over the railroads of that country. Practically this will bring the Canadian roads to some extent under the provisions of the interstate commerce law and do away with one great cause of complaint by the roads against this law.

Fears for the Pelican.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 8.—There is much speculation among local shipping men as to the fate of the steamship Pelican, now out eighty-five days from Port Townsend for Taku, Japan. Nothing has been heard of her since she passed through the straits outward bound. Shipping men generally are of the opinion that the vessel has broken her propeller shaft and that she is sure to be picked up by some other steamer and towed to some other port.

New Weyler Inquiry.

Madrid, Jan. 8.—The cabinet council decided to submit General Weyler's conduct, with reference to the protest against President McKinley's message and to other matters, to a fresh inquiry under the direction of the general commanding the First army corps, Lieutenant General Daban. There is a possibility that a ministerial crisis may thus be averted.

Four Firemen Killed.

Glasgow, Jan. 8.—During a fire at Hattrick's chemical works there was an explosion which killed four firemen and injured a number of other people. The damage done is estimated at £250,000.

Name Funk for Speaker.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 8.—The house caucus was held Friday evening, opening at 7:30. J. H. Funk of Hardin county was nominated for speaker by acclamation.

LA CROSSE CYCLERS TO FIX MATTERS UP

TROUBLE IS LIKELY TO BE SETTLED

All the Club Members Were Not in Favor of the Withdrawal and the Minority Is Charged With "Packing the Meeting" That Voted To Withdraw.

Milwaukee, Wis. Jan. 8—[Special]—The withdrawal of the La Crosse county Wheelmen has been officially reported to Chief Consul Rotier of this city, and from present indications the trouble will be adjusted in a few days. It appears that that the La Crosse wheelmen are divided into two factions and at the annual meeting the anti-league members were out in force and voted to withdraw from the main body. Out of the 250 members, only forty were at the meeting and the plan was carried by only a small majority. The rest of the members threatened to disrupt the organization unless the action withdrawing from the league is rescinded.

One Killed and Three Hurt.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—By the explosion of a dynamite cartridge at Central Park boulevard and Humboldt street, at 10 o'clock Friday morning, one man was instantly killed and three others were injured. The explosion took place in a sewer. Several sticks of dynamite had been placed in the ground to blow up the earth and stones. Riley, the man killed, struck one of these with his pick and it exploded, hurling the unfortunate man 200 feet in the air. His body was torn to pieces. Forty men were at work around him and it is considered almost miraculous that more were not killed or injured.

No Reorganization for Them.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 8.—The state executive committee of the Populist party of Colorado, at a special meeting, adopted a resolution to the effect that after advising with the leading Populists of this state they are of the opinion that the call for a meeting of the so-called reorganization committee to meet in St. Louis January 12, 1898, and the objects thereof are illegal and absolutely unnecessary, and they refuse to recognize the so-called reorganization committee. The resolution declares the intention of the executive committee to use every effort to retain the party intact as an independent organization.

China Appeals to Salisbury.

London, Jan. 8.—The Standard, in an important editorial apparently inspired, says: "For the present it must suffice to say that China has made earnest overtures for Great Britain's good offices, and that Lord Salisbury is giving the closest attention to the matter in its practical aspects. The probabilities point to a settlement, which, without involving undue risk to the British exchequer, will secure for England advantages, the value of which cannot be appraised in mere monetary terms."

Adjourned Until Monday.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 8.—There was no quorum present in the senate Friday. Senator Crawford reported the primary election bills. Then an adjournment was taken to 5 p. m. Monday.

The house was in session ten minutes on Friday without a quorum present. The senate bill making an appropriation of $15,000 to pay the employes of the present extra session was advanced to second reading. The house then adjourned to 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Corn Is King in Kansas

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 7.—Secretary Coburn of the state board of agriculture has completed a tabulation of the values of farm products and live stock marketed in Kansas during the last ten years. The figures show that Kansas farmers realized over $1,300,000,000 for these products. Contrary to the general impression, wheat is not king in Kansas. Corn outranks it. In the ten years the total value of corn has exceeded that of wheat by $177,000,000.

Pleased with Mexican Land.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 7.—The representatives of the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations have arrived here on their return from inspecting the 3,000,000 acres of land in Mexico, which they expect to buy, and which lie on the Rio Grande, fifty miles below this city. Morgan Cole, one of the representatives from the Indian Territory, said the members of his committee were highly pleased with the Mexican land.

Britain Will Not Arbitrate.

London, Jan. 8.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Cape Town says it is stated that Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the Colonies, has replied with a terse refusal to the suggestion made by the Transvaal government that the questions in dispute between that country and Great Britain be settled by arbitration.

Window Glass Men at Work.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 8.—Pots were pushed into furnaces Friday and all of the window-glass plants in the Indiana gas belt, thirty-two in number, are in operation for the first time since last June. All of the old employes are back and resumed work at a scale of wages averaging 15 per cent over those of last summer.

ABLE OLD JURIST QUITS THE BENCH

JUDGE DUNWIDDIE, OF MONROE, RETIRES.

Had Served Since 1858—Many Farmers Owe Him a Debt of Gratitude That Time Will Not Efface—Connection With the Old "M. & M. Railroad."

A notable event in the history of Green county occurred last Monday by the retirement from office of Judge Brooks Dunwiddie, after a service as county judge for Green county for exactly forty years. Having been elected over an opponent each succeeding year since 1858, his retirement brings to an end a judicial career the equal of which is not known in the United States. He is to be succeeded by John M. Becker, a silver democrat, who was elected in opposition to three-fourths of the voters of the county.

Mr. Dunwiddie is now in his 80th year and the same popularity which has kept him in office clings to him today. His strength with voters came to him all at once, and this one episode in his career is familiar to every family in the county and has been told and retold by farmers, who remember that by his successful efforts their farms had been saved to them.

It was when the people of Wisconsin had made considerable progress in building the Milwaukee & Mississippi railroad terminus, at Prairie du Chien. In 1854 the road was completed to Madison with a branch to Janesville. The people of northern Wisconsin embarked in the enterprise of extending the road from Janesville to Dubuque. The agents of the company held out flattering inducements to the farmers along the line of the road to subscribe liberally for the stock of the company, and pay in bonds maturing in ten years, with interest coupons attached, secured by mortgages on real estate. The farmers between Janesville and Dubuque subscribed about $500,000 to the stock and gave farm mortgages as security. Subsequently these mortgages gave the farmers much trouble.

Elected a Railroad Director.

In the fall of 1855 the farmers brought Mr. Dunwiddie's name before the stockholders' meeting and he was made a member of the board of directors to look after their interests. The half million of securities finally became pledged by securities for the loan of $500,000, a part of the floating debt of the company. In July, 1857, the company became insolvent, and the road was turned over to a trustee. This made the stock of the company worthless and left the farmers wholly unpaid.

Absolute ruin now stared the farmer in the face but Mr. Dunwiddie set his wits to work to extricate the farmers from this enormous debt. He found that the first mortgage was not originally given on the rolling stock and personal property of the company, though after the sale of the road and of the farm mortgage bonds, the legislature passed a law giving the first mortgage bondholders a lein on the rolling stock and personal property. Mr. Dunwiddie contended that this was a fraud of all the creditors of the company. The farm mortgage bonds only being turned out as collateral to the debts of the company, the holders of the securities were, of course, creditors of the company.

Mr. Dunwiddie opened negotiations with the holders of the farm mortgage securities requesting them to sue the company and attach their rolling stock and personal property, which was amply sufficient to pay their floating debts of half a million secured by farmers, bonds as collateral. This proposition was assented to by the holders of the floating debt and attachment suits were about to be commenced when the trustee managing the road called a halt and an arrangement was made with him to issue a new class of stock and sell it in the New York market, the proceeds to be applied in redemption of the farm mortgages. This was done by the trustee and the farm mortgages were redeemed.

Had not Mr. Dunwiddie discovered that rolling stock could not be held by the first mortgage on the road the farmers would have been left to pay their mortgages The farmers from Milton Junction to Dubuque were thus relieved by his good sense and activity.

Sketch of His Life

Mr. Dunwiddie was born in Green county, O., on Jan. 22, 1818. At the age of nineteen he began studying law, but before he was admitted to the bar he abandoned his law studies and came to Green county. He arrived there in August, 1840, and engaged in herding sheep the following spring. The next winter he was exposed to an unusual season of weather and was unable to attend to his herds. Many were killed by the wild animals then in this territory, and in 1847 he sold what he had left of his herd and received territorial script, which was subject to such fluctuations that by the time it was cashed his capital was exhausted and his health broken down.

He turned his attention again to law, and in June, 1848, he applied to the Circuit court and was admitted to the bar. He thereupon opened an office in Monroe. He was a Whig in politics. In the fall of 1848 there were three political parties in the field. He was elected by a plurality to the office of district attorney, serving two years. After that the democrats regained power and elected a full county ticket in 1850.

In July, 1854, Mr. Dunwiddie attended the mass meetin at Madison to organize a republican party. He was a member of the Committee on Resolutions, and in conjunction with C. F. Thompson was instrumental in procuring the election of Joun Halworth as permanent chairman of the convention. He has identified himself with the republican party to the present day.

Was a Staunch Republican.

Like many citizens of his ability he has more or less participated in the politics of the state. However, with one exception he was satisfied with the office of county judge of Green county. This one exception was in the year 1870, when he was a prominent candidate before the congressional convention for the nomination for congress in the Third Congressional district.

In his official capacity he has acquitted himself with honor and to the satisfaction of the people of Green county. He has also served as one of the trustees of the Mendota Insane asylum from 1863 to 1873, and was treasurer of the school district of the city of Monroe upwards of fifteen years. He is a member of the Baptist church, is the oldest Mason of the Monroe chapter, and is an Odd Fellow of long standing.

He retired from practice ten years ago by reason of the crowding duties of his office. During his practice he has participated as attorney of record in some big cases that developed in Southern Wisconsin, both in the Circuit court and in the Supreme court. During his judicial career upwards of 4,000 cases have been passed upon by him, and only a small number have been appealed from.

He will not entirely retire from active business, as he is a person who enjoys comparatively good health, a clear mind and good memory, and he will take a desk in the law office of his son, John D. Dunwiddie, where he will undoubtedly devote considerable of his time as counsellor.

The New County Judge.

John M. Becker, who succeeds Mr. Dunwiddie, is the guiding spirit of the free silver forces in Green county, and was elected by a stranged combination of circumstances. He is the only democratic attorney in the county, and defeated six republican candidates in the contest that elected him to office. He was born at Blue Mounds, Dane county, June 29, 1865. He graduated from the Wisconsin Law school in 1888. In 1890 he located in Monroe and began practicing law. He served two terms as city clerk, and represented his ward in the council. He has been successful in his practice, being exceptionally fortunate in cases he has appealed to the supreme court.

MR. HALL ON MATRIMONY

At Court Street M. E. Church Tomorrow Evening.

Should such a subject be considered in the pulpit and on a Sunday evening? Mr. Hall thinks so. He believes that bible teaching on all subjects is given to be taught. Most people do not read the bible but they need it nevertheless. It is the pulpit's sure province to bring what is needed in the word of God to where it is needed. In the hearts and minds of men and women and nowhere else bible truth can work sure and high evolution.

On the evening of the 16th, Mr. Hall will speak on "What the Bible has to say to husbands." On the evening of the 23rd on "What God says to wives." On the evening of the 30th the subject will be "The Bible on the training of children." This Home series will occupy the remainder of the January Sunday evenings. This will mean large evening audiences. The Life of Christ series which is growing in interest, will absorb the morning services.

EDGERTON IS PROUD OF THE NEW HOTEL

AND THE PEOPLE SHOULD SO FEEL

Building Is a Handsome One and Modern and Convenient in Every Way—The Architect Was F. H Kemp, Formerly of This City—The Dedication Plans.

Several Janesville people have planned to take part in the formal opening of the Carlton, Edgerton's handsome new hotel, Monday evening. The train leaves Janesville at 7 p. m. and returns about 4 a. m.

The hotel is one of the handsomest in the interior of the state. It is owned by the Hausemann Brewing Co of Madison, and the plans were drawn by F. H. Kemp, formerly of this city. The style of architecture adopted by Mr. Kemp is of a composite character. The porch which is the most esthetic feature of the front, is classic while the roof is French On the whole, however, the building is handsome and striking, much of the beauty of the front being due to the ornamental iron work. Bonnett & Michl were awarded the contract at a little over $15,000. Extras and additions brought the cost of the hotel complete for the furnishing to just about $20,000. Of the sub contractors, Kroft & Smitz of Madison, did the plumbing and steam heating. Powell Harluff also of Madison, the electric wiring and fixtures, there being about 175 incandescent lights in all about the hotel. The painting contract was done by Gus. Winzel of Whitewater, and the artistic interior decorations by C. Jorgensen of Milwaukee. The roofing cornice work, etc., by Hoffman & Co of Milwaukee. The plans called for a forty-room hotel, and the arrangement is about as convenient as it was possible to design it. The building is a three-story brick with Bedford stone trimmings. The design of the front presents a very handsome building, with its circular projections on either side of the entrance, and ornamented with lacquered iron work. The name of the hotel "The Carlton," also appears in cut stone in the center of the front.

THE LAKE GENEVA ELECTRIC

Property Holders Are Interested In the Proposed Enterprise

Local holders of Lake Geneva property are much interested in the proposed electric road. The proposed road will run through Harvard, Big Foot, Walworth, and Fontana. Walworth, Fontana and Big Foot people have all offered free land sites for the power house.

The depot at Geneva Lake will be at Reid's park, where a lot belonging to H. S. Bell has been purchased and $4,000 paid therefore. The depot will be erected on the lot and a wharf or dock will be run out a considerable distance into the lake in order to run cars to load ice, etc. From Mrs. Reid two acres of land has been purchased east of Fontana village which will be used as trackage yards.

The intention is to build the line on to connect with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway at either Delavan or Elkhorn.

MAY BE ON THE BALL TEAM

Two Janesville Men Likely to Wear University Uniforms

Whether or not Chester Brewer and George Brownell of this city will be members of this season's state university base ball team is a matter that is yet in doubt. Last year their work on the team was highly satisfactory and was up to the standard.

It has been decided that the visiting team shall accept a guarantee of $125, or one-half of the gross gate receipts as it may desire during the season's games.

Latest Styles In Walking Costumes—New and Effective Trimmings.

For walking costumes perhaps the most favored style is that in which skirt and jacket are alike. More and more embroidery and soutache are employed to decorate these costumes, and the collar at least is of fur, if there is neither fur boa, revers nor pelerine. Blouse jackets are most often seen, but for those who do not care for blouses there are close eton jackets, double breasted and coming just to the waist. They are closed with buttons of amethysts or other jewels set in a circle of gold. Cloth or hairy woolens are much used for such toilets, blue, green, purple and brown being the preferred colors. Braid or velvet ribbon forms the decoration.

Many walking skirts are trimmed with ruffles or flounces. These are sometimes arranged in the form of scallops or vandykes. Sometimes they outline a curved or pointed tablier, rising at the back. Such ruffles are decidedly the mode and are seen on gowns of all degrees of elegance. On costumes of black cloth the correct trimming is a ruffle of white velvet with large, black figures, the same sort of velvet appearing in the bodice, where it forms the sleeves and revers.

Black and white striped velvet is fashionable and effective, being softer in aspect than the same combination in silk or satin.

Little ruffles of ribbon gathered in the middle are a new and modish trimming and are often used in many close rows. Bands of mousseline de soie ruffled in the same way are also used.

The picture shows a dinner gown of sky blue broche silk. The skirt is finished by a band of black ostrich plumage around the foot and opens at the side over a panel of guipure over black satin. The bodice is stretched behind and draped in front and has a sort of bolero composed of points of guipure over black satin. The high collar is edged with black plumage and is cut away in front to leave the throat uncovered. The sleeves are of guipure over black satin. The black satin belt has long ends at the back. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE WARDROBE.

Early Hints of Spring—Ball Gowns and Other Pretty Things.

The first importations of French organdies are here and are of almost transparent texture. There is a predominance of rather close floral effects in delicate colorings, with a tendency toward more or less distinct stripes, formed by the design or appearing as plain bands of color. Black organdies with bright flowers are also seen, and reproductions of old fashioned patterns in which the floral design is intermingled with clouds of color of irregular shape.

Fans are small and elaborate. They are made of gauze, lace, silk and satin, but gauze in particular is favored, and is covered with spangles or is painted with flowers or watteau scenes. A fan may be a most expensive work of art, if the sticks are finely carved and the decoration made by an experienced artist.

Nearly all evening gowns are trimmed with applications of embroidered and spangled lace. Embroidery of gold and silver is in high favor, with crystals also, not merely tiny beads, but large jewels. The bodice is usually a cloud of mousseline de soie, plain or with a woven or embroidered design, and is shirred, plaited, puffed and draped in every conceivable way, lace being often intermingled. Ostrich plume trimming and flowers are also employed as decoration.

There is a tendency among modistes to introduce historic styles among ball costumes, modernizing them to accord with the present time, to suit fashionable taste. Louis Quinze effects are particularly pleasing.

An illustration is given which shows an evening gown of straw moire. The skirt has three godets at the back, and is adorned by three puffings of straw mousseline de soie arranged diagonally. The draped bodice of moire is crossed in front over the right side, which is composed of puffed mousseline. The back is close fitting. The wrinkled sleeves of mousseline terminate at the elbow in plaited ruffles, and there are also plaitings at the shoulders. Copper satin is used for the belt, sleeve bows and shoulder knot, and a cluster of copper chrysanthemums is placed at the right shoulder. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Harriet Beecher Stowe's Beauty.

I remember once accompanying Mrs. Stowe to a reception at a well known house in Boston where before the evening was over the hostess drew me aside, saying, "Why did you never tell me that Mrs. Stowe was beautiful?" And indeed when I observed her, in the full ardor of conversation, with her heightened color, her eyes shining and awake, but filled with great softness, her abundant, curling hair rippling naturally about her head and falling a little at the sides (as in the portrait by Richmond), I quite agreed with my hostess. Nor was that the first time her beauty had been revealed to me, but she was seldom seen to be beautiful by the great world, and the pleasure of this recognition was very great to those who loved her. Photographs of her were universally unlike.

Mrs. Stowe wrote gayly at the moment of her first triumphal tour through England: "The general topic of remark on meeting me seems to be that I am not so bad looking as they were afraid I was, and I do assure you when I have seen the things that are put up in the shop windows here with my name under them I have been lost in wondering admiration at the boundless, loving kindness of my English and Scottish friends in keeping up such a warm heart for such a Gorgon. I should think that the sphinx in the London museum might have sat for most of them."—Mrs. Field's "Life of Mrs. Stowe."

Baltimore's Rainy Daysies.

The annual meeting of Baltimore's Rainy Day club was held on Dec. 3 in appropriate weather. It poured in torrents, but the women were happy. In short skirts, boots and leggings they braved mud and rain, and even those members who have carriages at their command walked to the meeting. It was voted that the Baltimore rainy day skirt should be five inches from the ground, and it was suggested that the club should extend its work to the discovery of a waterproof cloak and hat, so that the umbrella could be discarded. Committees were appointed to push the objects of the society among working women.

Miss McIlvain, the president, spoke of the movement in other cities. The press generally, she said, had been kind toward this hygienic movement. The newspapers of Chicago and San Francisco had requested photographs and information of her past life, but she had not answered such letters. Of ridicule there had been none. On the contrary, the club had received the heartiest commendation from physicians, who urged them to advocate short dresses for all street wear as a safeguard against disease germs. Men generally, she said, had not criticised them in any way.

Lady Rose Molyneux.

The latest outcry in English society against American habits is that young and pretty American girls do not hesitate to live by themselves, with necessary servants, whenever they feel inclined and can afford it. They give dinner parties and balls, supper and theater parties, as if they were married women. The worst of it, writes a correspondent of Vogue, is that English society acknowledges that there is a tendency to follow that lead, that some smart English girls have started establishments of their own, and that, strange to tell, they have not been frowned down upon by "certain aristocratic, old fashioned and conservative families," as it was expected they would be. An instance is given in Lady Rose Molyneux, who gave a house party at Abbeystead, including the usual shooting party. Lady Rose being her father's favorite daughter (the late Lord Sefton), at his death she inherited an estate in Lancashire with $30,000 to keep it up, besides $10,000 a year. Her house party turned out a perfect success, and her mother, Lady Sefton, was present as her daughter's guest and nothing more.

Our Progressive Women.

An exchange coins a new word most aptly after this fashion.

"Americanitis is a new trouble, or, rather, an old trouble, that is daily growing so much worse and so much more common that it is distinctly noticeable. Americanitis has been defined by somebody who has studied the ailment thus: The desire to 'get on.'

"'It is Americanitis that prompts the farmer's daughter to get a college education and make opportunities for herself better than those her mother and father had before her,' said the man lately who has been making a study of the 'get on' epidemic that is creating a marked characteristic.

"Of course there are times when the spirit of Americanitis is a good thing. Then it is that we can respect it, and no one will find fault with it in this case, not even our English sisters, who, of all people, have most to say that is not complimentary or encouraging to the hurry and push instincts of American women generally."

Latest Styles In Sleeves.

It is said with great confidence that sleeves will not reach perfect tightness during the winter. In almost every instance there will be some kind of trimming at the top of the sleeves in the shape of caps, frills or puffs. Many of the new gowns have sleeves trimmed just at the elbow, and others are neatly trimmed at the wrist with twists of ribbon, bands of braid or velvet, and some of the lighter weight materials show sleeves rounded at the wrist, revealing the arm at the inside, and they are finished with a puffing of the same material or chiffon, lace or soft silk.—Woman's Home Companion.

Thirty-two of the towns and cities of Colorado have women's clubs, and the aggregate membership of 4,039. Denver has 24 of the clubs. Last year it had but 15. It is thought that nearly every village and hamlet in the state will have a club by another year.

Mary B. Smith has been elected to the school committee in Beverly, Mass., by a majority in every ward. The opposing candidate was the strongest that the city could furnish and fully expected to be elected. Miss Smith had 1,070 votes and Mr. Edgett 714.

No woman can promote the cause of equal suffrage so much as by exercising every year such suffrage as the law already concedes to her. Be faithful over a few things and you will be made ruler over many.—Woman's Journal.

The Civitas club of Brooklyn has offered two prizes of $25 each to its members for the best story and best serious essay on either a historical or sociological subject. The essays must be in by March 1.

In Japan good housemaids command 50 cents a month, nurses from $1 to $1.50, and a cook who understands European cookery from $5 to $7.

Warming the Room.

"If the schoolroom does not seem sufficiently warm when the thermometer shows that the proper degree of heat has been reached," says a public school teacher, "I place a dish of water in the room, and I soon find that the room seems very comfortable, especially when there has not been sufficient humidity in the air before. The same thing will be found effective in a living room. Many people advocate keeping a dish of water standing always in every room in the house, but it must be kept fresh."—New York Times

Ribbon Sashes.

Ribbon sashes are worn in various widths. From 3 inches to 10 or 12 describes the limit each way. The excessively wide styles once popular are not used this winter, and the very broadest sashes are of transparent texture. A sash that is not too wide and that falls to the skirt hem is as a rule far more becoming to the wearer than the one that is half length. Of course a very wide sash cannot be tied at the side. An innovation that has little to recommend it is a half length ribbon sash tied in this position.

The Bow Hat.

The bow hat is the very latest. It is an indescribable Japanesque bow of black velvet, tied as only a Parisian milliner—and that a celebrated one—knows how to tie a bow, ornamented solely by an aigret. Another of these new bow hats has a high Spanish comb of cut jet in place of the aigret. The universal becomingness of the Alsatian bow of some years ago suggests that this one, still more chic, will be an immense success. This is another valuable hint for women of taste who have fairy fingers.

THE BRADLEY Magazine Exchange.

To the Reading Public of Janesville.

The success attained in other cities of exchanging magazines, warrants us in calling your attention to our method of furnishing periodical literature to our patrons at a nominal cost. The system, briefly, is this: For a stipulated sum, patrons have the reading of four magazines a month, one a week, delivered to them every Monday. The magazines are arranged in sets of four. Any four, however, of those given below may be taken, and if they belong to different sets the charge is averaged. The following is the arrangement.

EXCHANGE NO. 1 20c A MONTH.

Munseys; The New Illustrated; McClures; Argosy; Metropolitan or any four you may select from in this class.

EXCHANGE NO. 2, 35c A MONTH.

Review of Reviews; Scribner; Current Literature; Lippincott; Frank Leslie's, Etc.

EXCHANGE NO. 3, 50c A MONTH.

Atlantic; Forum; Harpers; Century; North American Review.

The Rules governing the Exchange are these:

1. The exchange fee for one month must accompany the order, and thereafter the same is payable on the first of each month.
2. The magazines will be delivered and taken up each Monday, beginning with the first Monday in each month, and patrons must have their magazines ready for delivery by 9 a. m. each Monday.
3. The magazines must be kept in good condition, and if injured or lost, patrons are responsible for the retail value of the same.
4. We reserve to ourselves the right of rotation, but guarantee a magazine every week.
5. The list of magazinet may be changed every month, provided proper notice is given before the delivery of the month is begun.

Back numbers will be sold at the following rates:
Those of Class 1, for 5 cents a copy.
Those of Class 2, for 15 cents a copy.
Those of Class 3, for 25 cents a copy.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1642—Death of Galileo Galilei, commonly called Galileo, who insisted that "the earth does move."

1815—Battle of New Orleans. Over 2,600 Britons fell. Jackson's loss was 8 killed and 13 wounded. Jackson's extraordinary triumph was enhanced by the fact that it was wholly unexpected and won against enormous odds. He went to New Orleans without troops and without followers, but soon aroused the people to the highest point of enthusiasm, and soldiers from the regions north flocked to his standard. The British forces under Pakenham included seasoned veterans from the Spanish peninsula. They looked upon Jackson's soldiers as despicable militia. But Jackson's men stood their ground and literally slaughtered Pakenham's magnificent battalions. The British general and many of his officers were killed.

1821—James Longstreet, soldier, born in Edgefield district, South Carolina.

1825—Eli Whitney, inventor of cotton gin and improved firearms, died in New Haven; born 1765.

1849—George Croghan, hero of the battle of Tippecanoe, Fort Meigs and Sandusky, died in New Orleans; born 1791.

1894—Fire destroyed part of the World's fair buildings, valued at $1,000,000.

1896—Ex-Governor W. R. Marshall of Minnesota died at Pasadena, Cal.; born 1825.

A SURPLUS IN SIGHT.

The Dingley law is starting the new year auspiciously by building up a surplus. This is a welcome change. During the entire three years in which the Wilson law was on the statute books the monthly statements were an almost unbroken succession of deficits. During the three months prior to the effacement of that act from the statute books the importers rushed in enormous quantities of such classes of goods as would be subjected to higher rates of duty under the new law, and thus reduced to that extent importations during the first few months under the new law. As a consequence the first month under the Dingley act produced only about $19,000,000. The second month it rose to 22,000,000, in round numbers; the third, $24,000,000, the fourth $25,000,000, and the fifth, $28,000,000, in round numbers, producing in that fifth month of its record a surplus of nearly $2,000,000. This remarkable growth in the receipts under this new law in the face of adverse conditions, fully justifies the predictions made by its friends that it will, as soon as conditions become normal, produce sufficient revenue to meet running expenses and accumulate something of a surplus in the treasury. While it must not be expected that the January receipts will equal the expenditures of that month, because of the very large interest payments that must be paid in January, and also because of the other heavy expenditures in the first month of the calendar year, there is every reason to expect that the growth in receipts which has been so marked a characteristic of the record of the Dingley law up to this time will continue, and before the end of the fiscal year the country will have the pleasure of seeing the treasury collecting easily, smoothly, and satisfactorily, with the proper distribution of the burden of taxation, sufficient revenue to meet all running expenses, a condition which did not exist at any time under the low-tariff Wilson law.

THE OHIO SITUATION.

Republican all over the United States are watching with intense interest the developments in Ohio. While it is ostensibly a senatorial fight against Mr. Hanna, it is far beyond that, for in it is involved the control of the United States senate during the first half of President McKinley's term, and the possibilities of financial legislation. Because of this fight the silver element, which made such a desperate struggle in 1896, is now centering its entire energy upon the state of Ohio and the city of Columbus, in the hope of defeating, not simply Mr. Hanna or Chairman Hanna, but a republican senatorial nominee, for whom they seek to substitute a friend of free silver and fiatism, and thus prevent currency legislation by congress during at least one-half of President McKinley's term, if not, indeed, all of it.

It seems as hard to suit the disappointed aspirants for the Clinton postoffice as it is to please the complaining witnesses in the Waupun investigation.

Lady Henry Resigns Again.

London, Jan. 8.—Lady Henry Somerset has again tendered her resignation of the presidency of the British Women's Temperance association, on account of prolonged ill health.

Butterworth Is Improving.

Thomasville, Ga., Jan. 8.—Benjamin Butterworth is still improving, though slowly. Dr. Morton says that he has a chance to get well.

The Driver Was No Fool.

On one occasion the driver of a prison van, generally known as "Black Maria," distinguished himself by his ready wit. A would-be wag on the footpath hailed him with: "Got any room inside, Robert?"

"There's room for one," replied the driver; "we kep' it for you."

Not entirely disconcerted, the wit made another shot. "What's your fare?" he asked.

The answer, however, entirely extinguished him, for the driver replied: "Bread and water, same as you had before."—Tit-Bits.

Wanted a Life Term.

A young man in the treasury department, who took an examination recently for promotion, ran up against a curious question, but was equal to the occasion, and his ready reply will doubtless stand him in good stead when his average is made up. The question asked was this:

"How long do you expect to remain in the civil service?"

"Until death do us part," was the reply, unhesitatingly written down.—Philadelphia Press.

No Reason to Hang Back.

"Come and take lunch with me today," said one business man to another.

"I can't. I've an appointment."

"Can't you break it?"

"No; a man has promised to come to my office at noon, and pay me some money."

"Oh, then that's all right. I'll order the lunch for two. He won't come.—Cleveland Leader.

A Shattered Ideal.

Willie—Ma, I'm not afraid of policemen any more.

HE KNEW EACH WHISTLE.

Test in Which the Boy Distinguished Nineteen Different Ones.

To you and me, and to most men in Louisville, perhaps, all locomotive and steamboat whistles sound practically alike, but to the practiced ear there is an individuality about each one of them, says the Louisville Post. Most people in Bowling Green remember John Cottrell, the youngest son of the late Rev. Joseph B. Cottrell, a Methodist minister of more than local note. While his father was stationed in the park city as pastor the lad spent most of his time in and around the yards and roundhouse of the Louisville & Nashville railroad. The result was that in a few months John Cottrell had learned to easily distinguish one locomotive whistle from another. With his eyes shut he could tell you, when an engineer blew for the station a mile away, not only the number of the engine, but the kind of train it was pulling and the crew in charge. In testing his memory one day the yardmaster tried John on nineteen different engines and he didnt fail to give all the desired information about each four minutes before it came into the station. By the same means a little negro boy named "Testy" Wilkins, who worked on a fishboat near the mouth of Green river, on the lower Ohio, could hear and recognize the different steamboats, tows and tugs on the river. This was particularly true of the packets on both Green and the Ohio rivers and many is the penny "Testy" has made by "showing off" his marine lore.

Has No Faith in Horseshoes.

There is a truck driver on Greenwich street, in this city, who stands ready to demolish any man who attempts to persuade him that horseshoes are lucky. He started up the street the other day with a load of discarded horseshoes, which were to be delivered to a junk shop in the neighborhood. He was hardly under way when the tail board of his wagon fell out and about a bushel of shoes were scattered on the pavement, and in picking these up one of them fell upon his foot and injured him so that he limped for a week. While he was reloading, a rapidly driven car came down the street and struck the rim of his wheel, demolishing two spokes, and he had hardly unloaded and started for home before his horse took fright and ran away, demolishing his wagon and nearly killing him in the bargain by throwing him against a pillar of the elevated road. On reaching home he found three of the children sick with the measles.

Dog With False Teeth.

The greatest curiosity at the kennel show at the Crystal palace, London, was an aged and very sleepy little Schipperke, which boasts of the proud and unique distinction of being the only dog in the world with a complete set of false teeth. His fame speedily spread among the visitors, and he was always the center of a curious crowd and the object of much admiration. At the outset he resented the attempts of strangers to open his mouth in order to inspect his artificial grinders, but eventually he yielded to the inevitable and accepted their attentions with considerable patience. The dog is owned by a dentist, who practices his profession in the city. The poor old doggy's teeth were fitted up by way of an advertisement, as his master intends to open a canine dental office.

Knew He Was German.

A German and Frenchman sat opposite each other at table d'hote in a certain hotel in Switzerland. "You are a Frenchman, I suppose?" inquired the German at the commencement of the meal. "Yes," was the reply, "but how do you manage to find that out?" "Because you eat so much bread," said the German. There was a long pause. When the dinner was over the Frenchman in turn questioned his vis-a-vis. "You are a German, I presume?" "To be sure, but tell me, pray, how you made that discovery?" "Because you eat so much of everything," was the dry retort.

Immigration League Formed.

New York, Jan. 8.—The Immigration Protective League was formally organized in this city Friday. The object of the league is to oppose the restriction of immigration, and its immediate project is to combat Senator Lodge's bill now before congress. It was decided to make the league a national institution.

McKane Must Serve His Term.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 8.—It is stated on indisputable authority, despite the rumors to the contrary, that Governor Black will not pardon nor commute the sentence of John Y. McKane, a former political leader at Gravesend, whose term of seven years' imprisonment in Sing Sing will expire April next by limitation.

Steamer Has Not Foundered.

Marseilles, Jan. 8.—No confirmation has been received of the reports that a large steamer has foundered with all hands off Bauduc, about twenty-five miles west of this port. The report is probably untrue.

Railroads Fear Miners' Strike.

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 8.—The railroads in this vicinity are fearing another strike by the coal miners, and are storing coal in preparation for the famine.

"THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD OR OUR SAVIOUR IN ART"

Cost over $100,000 to publish. Contains nearly 200 full-page engravings of our Saviour, by the great masters. Every picture is reproduced from some famous painting. Agents are taking from three to twenty orders per day. The book is so beautiful that when people see it they want it. The Hermitage, Prado, Uffizi, Pitti, Louvre, Vatican National of London, National of Berlin, Belvidere and other celebrated European galleries have placed their greatest and rarest treasures at our disposal that they might be engraved for this superb work. "FIRST GLANCE AT THE PICTURES BROUGHT TEARS TO MY EYES," says one. "Cleared $150 first week's work with the book," says another. "Some high grade man or woman should secure the agency here at once," says every editor, "as $500 can soon be made taking orders for it." Nearly $10,000 expended on new plates for edition coming from press. Also a man or woman of good church standing can secure position of Manager and Correspondent of this territory, to devote all his time to employing and drilling agents and corresponding with them. Address for full particulars A. P. T ELDER, Publisher, 278 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

NOTES ARE SET OFF AGAINST A CLAIM

JUDGE BENNETT PASSES ON EDGERTON CASE.

Matter of C. M. Gagan Against the Bank Is Decided—Menzies-Norcross Case Is Held Open—Mrs. Simpson the Youngest Woman to Get a Divorce Here.

After hearing arguments of counsel in the case of C. M. Gagan et al. against the Bank of Edgerton et al., the court, being sufficiently advised, ordered that the notes of said petitioner, held by the bank, be set off against the account of said petitioner.

In the matter of the estate of Catherine Menzies and Pliny Norcross, Attorney E. D. McGowan, in behalf of the heirs, made a motion for the dismissal of the appeal for the following reasons:

That the notice of appeal herein required to be given was not given as directed in the order of the county court.

That the bond required by law was not given by said appellant.

That the franchise of the administrator of the will have ceased and that he cannot now take an appeal as such administrator.

The case was held open until Tuesday, January 11, at 9 a. m.

During all the years that Judge John R Bennett has presided over the circuit court of Rock county, he never before granted a divorce to as young a woman as he did yesterday when he severed the ties that bound Jennie E Simpson and Lewis Simpson of Beloit. The happy bride of two years ago married when she was but fifteen years of age. Her husband, who failed to put in an appearance yesterday, is but twenty-four years old.

DO NOT WANT THE OLD DEPOT

The C. & N. W. Company Cannot Sell the Old Building.

No one seems to want the old C. & N. W. passenger depot. A local official says he has not received a single bid on the structure. "That building will last for years to come", said the official, "and I doubt if any wooden structure in this city is built of better timber. It will stand an Iowa cyclone."

It is said that a local coal dealer may buy it and utilize it far a coal shed. The suggestion has also been made that the city buy it, and let the people who have much desired to see it burn in the days gone by, have a bonfire.

SPOON FAMILY PLAN REUNION

Nine Brothers and Sisters, the Youngest Fifty-Four Years of Age.

A. J. Spoon, who left Janesville thirty-five years ago, is here for a month or two, visiting S. Spoon of the First ward, and a reunion of the family is being planned. A. J. Spoon went to California and from there to Washington territory. For several years he has lived in Bickleton, Washington. When all his brothers and sisters get together, as they expect to within a month, there will be nine of them, the youngest fifty-four years of age. They have not been together since 1851.

PUT TWO OFFICES IN ONE

U. S. and American Express Join Issues At Watertown

James R. Botsford of this city, route agent for the United States Express company, made a visit to Watertown this week for the purpose of consolidating the American and United States Express offices in that city. The object in so doing is to save expenses, for it does away with a delivery man as well as an office and horses. The plan is being tried in many other towns where the business is not large enough to support two companies.

SUBSCRIPTIONS ARE SECURED

Representative Men Are Showing Much Interest in Proposed Factory.

Subscriptions for Janesville's new manufacturing establishment are being given with encouraging promptness. The representative men of the city are showing their confidence in the plan by substantial pledges. It is necessary that the matter be closed up as soon as possible. In case $3,500 can be raised by the middle of next week the factory will be assured and great benefit to the city will be guaranteed.

Says He Will Try to Do Better By His Family

Joseph Zostoupel, who has been confined in the county on the allegation that he had threatened the life of his wife and three children, was allowed his liberty this morning at 11 o'clock. Chief Hogan and Sheriff Acheson who had a long talk with the prisoner this morning say that he only acts bad when he gets to drinking. Foreman Arnold of the lower cotton mill, for whom Zostoupel has worked, says that he is an industrious worker but that he has been in poor circumstances. Zostoupel says that he will try and do better by his family in the future.

A SUIT for damages has been begun against the city of Jefferson by Louis Wollin, a merchant tailor. Mr. Wollin recently fell on an icy sidewalk. He asks for $2,000 damages. So Janesville is not the only city that has "sidewalk suits" to fight.

JOHN HIGGINS, of the town of Janesville was thrown violently to the ground this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in a runaway accident on Cherry street. The injured man was taken to the office of Dr. W. H. Judd by Officer Appleby when it was found he was suffering with a bad dislocation of the left shoulder.

IMPROVEMENTS that will cost, when completed, in the neighborhood of $1,000 are now being made at the J. F. Spoon & Company's grain elevator on North River street. A. G. Johnson, representing the Brown Gasoline Engine Company of Columbus, O., is here setting up an eighteen horse power gasoline engine.

BLOCK SIGNAL WORK HAS BEEN FINISHED

JANESVILLE-LEYDEN GAP IS CLOSED UP.

System Was Completed Last Night And Will Add Much to The Safety Of Passengers—Operators To Control The Signals From a Block House.

All trains on the C. & N. W. road running from this city to Madison via the Evansville cut off, will in the future be regulated by the block system. Near the corner of Race and River street has been placed an operator's house from which will be worked the red and white arm signals from a black signal staff that has been placed on the cut-off bridge about 200 hundred feet away.

These signals are operated by a system of wires that are regulated by a wheel within the block house. In the past trains out of this city to Leyden have not been governed by the block system, but have been guided by telegraph. Under this new system, which was completed last evening, no trains will be allowed to leave north over the cut off until the train before it has left Leyden.

The same rule will apply to all south bound trains between this city and Leyden. The block system, which has been in working order for some time past both north and south of this city, has not been up between this city and Leyden, but the gap has now been closed. Who will get the position of operators is a matter as yet undecided.

THE FUNERAL OF F. B PHELPS

Remains Will Arrive In Janesville At 12:40 O'clock Tomorrow Night.

The body of late F. B Phelps of New York, is expected to arrive here at 12:40 o'clock tomorrow night. F. B. Hogoboom will meet the bereaved wife in Chicago. On their return at the home the casket will be taken to the home of the father, Judge M. M. Phelps, 120 Lincoln street.

Because of the long journey of the mourning wife and the recent desolation of the home no preparation will be made for a public funeral. The interment will be from the house at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and there will be brief services at the grave.

Mrs. Francis M. Schenck.

On New Years day the funeral of Mrs F. M. Schenck was held at the home of the family in La Prairie, Rev. Mr. Noyes officiating, and she was laid to rest in the Emerald Grove cemetery. Her illness was short, the disease, congestion, making rapid progress, and in four days completed its work, she dying on the morning of December 29, 1897, without suffering but quietly passing away.

She was born in the town of Bradford, Aug. 29, 1848, and married in 1876.

In her youth she chose the vocation of teacher in which she was remarkable successful. Kind, loving and faithful in all the relations of life, her loss is most keenly felt in the family and social circle. She had been for many years a devoted member of the Methodist church and her religion was exemplified in her daily life.

GROWING CHILDREN

The Period When the Nervous Activity Is At Its Greatest.

"Against the practice of giving tea and coffee to children, we cannot speak too strongly. Childhood is the period when the nervous activity is at its greatest. The brain is ever busy receiving new impressions. Reflex action, co-ordination of muscles, and the special senses are all under a special course of training.

The nervous system is pushed to its utmost capacity, and long is the list of victims that follow its over-stimulation. In these little people nothing but harm can come from the use of such cerebral stimulants as tea or coffee. Bad, then, as this practice is, let us as physicians be aggressive in its prohibition.

Do not be satisfied by answering "No," when asked as to its use, but let us teach the families with whom he comes in contact that such practice is evil. We speak emphatically, because not only among the poor and educated, but among the rich, who should know better, this practice is marvelously prevalent.

Children like a warm beverage for breakfast and it is well for them to have it if the drink is a food and not a drug.

Postum Food Coffee is made to supply a rich nourishing liquid food with a crisp coffee taste, for those who cannot and should not use coffee. Analysis shows it to contain about fourteen per cent. of muscle forming elements and 66 11 per cent. of energy and fat producing elements, which go to nourish and sustain the delicate nerve centers throughout the body and from which the vital energy proceeds.

The supreme importance of proper food in place of drugs is not generally understood, but, the success of child or adult depends largely upon proper sustenance for the body. Children who depend upon the intelligence of their elders to furnish them with good food deserve our most careful attention and thought upon this subject.

A JANESVILLE NAG BRINGS BIG PRICE

MATTIE E. GOULD SOLD FOR $1,100.

James Butler, the Employer of John Kelly, Is the Purchaser and Joseph Heald Formerly of This City, Who Now Works Under Mr. Kelly's Direction, Made the Deal.

Another Rock County horse has been sold for a fancy price—Mattie E Gould, by Phallamont, dam by Mack Almont.

James Butler, the New York millionaire, whose fast horses are under John Kelly's training, is the buyer, and Joseph Heald, formerly of this city, who is now working for Mr. Kelly, came west to make the purchase, paying $1,100 for the horse.

The breeding of Mattie E. Gould in the royal purple and she has a history Last June she was plowing corn on a farm, and drawing milk to a butter factory. Mr. Heald bought her and gave her her early training on the Janesville track. She was at the Boone Co. Fair at Belvidere last fall. When she has no record, she could trot a good mile track in 2:25 when Dr. F. S. Whitman of that city bought her last September. When breeding, individuality and disposition are taken into account, as well as a faultless trotting action, it is safe to predict that this mare will be among the top notchers next year. She will be shipped from Chicago to New York by American Express.

By Tom, the bootblack, on the quay?
Well, sir, you see, my pa an I
Went down to see the yachts go by,
An I fell in an like to drowned
An might if Tom had not been round.

"Well, Tom, he broke his arm, you see,
An all just on account of me,
So my pa said that he must go
An live with us—be folks, you know.
An Tom, he says it's jolly prime,
An he'll save me 'most any time."

LOVE LEVELS ALL.

"Is this the ferry?"

The speaker was a tall, fair girl, whose pale statuesque beauty was accentuated by her mourning dress and black hat, and her inquiry was addressed to a handsome, broad shouldered young fellow in flannels, who was fastening a boat up to the steps.

As the young man did not reply the girl repeated her question.

"Can you tell me, please, if this is the ferry?"

Then he looked hastily around, and as there was nobody else in sight he seemed to come to the conclusion that he was the one to whom the lady was speaking.

"I beg your pardon," he said. "I did not know that you were addressing me. This is Twickenham ferry."

"Thank you," responded the girl. "And will you be good enough to ferry me over?"

"With pleasure," was the reply, and, stepping forward, he assisted her into the boat, shoved off and commenced sculling across the river.

When they had arrived at the opposite bank and as the young lady was being assisted out, she asked:

"How much do I owe you, please?"

The ferryman turned rather red and hesitated for a few moments before he replied:

"The fare is a penny, but you had better pay when you come back."

"I am afraid I shall have to," replied the fair girl, looking in her purse, "for I have nothing less than a shilling."

"Shall I expect you down this afternoon for a row?" inquired the young man.

"Very probably—I think so. By the bye, what's your name? Whose boat shall I ask for?"

"My name is John, but my friends usually call me Jack."

"Very well, John, I shall be at the landing place about half past 2." And she walked away with that grace and vigor which are inseparable from a girl who has been brought up in the fresh air and athletic surroundings of a country life.

The half hour had barely struck when the young lady made her appearance at the ferry. Jack was waiting for her, and without any loss of time they got afloat and started up the river.

This was a memorable day with Geraldine, for it was her first introduction to the "silvery Thames," and as she leaned back on the cushions in the stern sheets the ripple of the water and the songs of the birds combined with the rhythmic sound of the boatman's sculls to make sweet music, which she enjoyed in silence until they arrived opposite Pope's villa, which Jack duly pointed out.

"A grand poet!" exclaimed Geraldine, with enthusiasm.

"Much overrated," answered Jack. "His brain was as crooked as his figure."

"You have been misinformed," observed Geraldine. "Of course you have not read his 'Iliad.' It is not a book that would appeal to you. But"—

"Oh, yes, I have," interrupted Jack. "And his 'Odyssey' too. But I would rather read one canto from 'Childe Harold' than the whole of Pope's works."

This led to a disputatious argument, in which Geraldine lost her temper and was rude enough to say:

"You are evidently an exemplification of the old saying that 'a little learning is a dangerous thing.'"

"Well, I'm bothered," exclaimed Jack, with a satirical smile, "if that isn't a little too bad. For if there was one thing that I was supposed to be good at next to rowing it was Greek."

"You seem to be very well educated for your position in life," remarked Geraldine.

"Oh, I don't know," answered Jack, and he added quickly: "The free libraries are so convenient, you know. But I might return the compliment and say that you seem very well read for a young lady."

When they returned to the ferry, Geraldine extracted her purse, but, as she was taking out the money, Jack said, pointing to Hammerton, the ferryman:

"That is the person to pay, please. I am not allowed to take any money."

When the young lady was out of sight, Jack said quietly to the boatman:

"Don't forget, Dick, if she should happen to make any inquiries that I am only one of your assistants."

"All right, sir," answered Dick, with a knowing look. "I won't forget."

For the next month Geraldine went on the river every fine day, sometimes in the morning, sometimes in the afternoon, and these boating expeditions were extended on many occasions up the stream to Kingston, Molesey and Sunbury, and many an argument they had on literature and art—for as a rule their opinions on these subjects were diametrically opposite—as they drifted down homeward bound.

One afternoon they were returning down the river when the conversation turned upon the wedding of a lady of property in the neighborhood, who had recently married her coachman.

"Poor, unfortunate woman!" exclaimed Geraldine. "How bitterly she will regret it!"

"Why should she?" inquired Jack.

"Because happiness is impossible with such an ill assorted match."

"How do you know they are ill assorted?"

"Why, the man is only a common coachman!"

"But you must remember that she has married the man, not the coachman, and if they are fond of one another why should they not be happy?"

"It is impossible!" exclaimed Geraldine. "How can she, a lady by birth and education, have anything in common with a fellow like that—a hewer of wood and a drawer of water?"

"Don't be too hard upon us," said Jack half seriously. "Remember that Homer was a slave, Burns a plowman and your favorite, Pope, only the son of a linen draper."

"Ah, but genius levels all things!" replied Geraldine, with a smile.

"There is something else which levels all things," observed the young boatman.

"What is that?"

"Love," answered Jack, "that glorious feeling which is the true philosopher's stone, which gilds the road of life, no matter how rough it may be; makes a dry crust with the object of one's affection more acceptable than a feast without her, and which sweeps away all distinctions of rank, as the running water washes away the dull earth and leaves the grains of gold exposed."

"How eloquent you are this afternoon!" remarked Geraldine, but her voice was tremulous, and it was evident that her playful sarcasm was but assumed. "What novel have you been reading?"

"Perhaps I am eloquent," replied Jack. "It has been said that all men deeply in earnest are so, and this is a question that affects me to the bottom of my soul. In days of old women married men because they loved them, irrespective of their banking accounts or pedigrees. If a man was honest, brave and honorable, he was considered a match for any 'ladye faire,' and why should it not be so now?"

"Times have altered," faltered Geraldine, her usually pale face a rosy red, "and we have altered with them."

"Not so," responded Jack. "The times have changed, I grant you, and in many respects for the worse, but men and women are still the same. Indeed, so sure am I that this is the case that I am about to stake my whole future happiness upon it. I love you truly and devotedly. I have never loved before and I shall never love again. Will you be mine? Will you trust yourself and your future happiness to me?"

"Oh, this is unkind and ungenerous," cried Geraldine, her eyes filling with tears. "You should not—you ought not to—talk to me like this."

"Why not? Out of the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh," answered the young man, and, leaning forward, he possessed himself of one of her hands. "Put on one side all disparities of rank or fortune and ask yourself the question, 'Do I love him?' Geraldine, dear Geraldine, do not let the cruel laws of society come between us and ruin the happiness of two lovers. Speak, darling, and tell me you love me."

"Can you not see," cried the poor girl, commencing to weep bitterly, "it is unkind of you to press me further?"

"I want to hear it from your own dear lips," persisted Jack. "I only want you to say, 'I love you, Jack, and will be your wife.'"

"Oh, I cannot."

"But you do love me?"

"Yes, but—oh, look, there is my aunt," exclaimed Geraldine. "Please put me on shore at once."

Jack looked round and discovered an old lady watching them intently from the towing path, and turning the boat's head he sculled in to the bank, saying as he assisted Geraldine to land:

"I shall call upon you in the morning."

He did so and was informed by the servant that the family had gone away early that day and had left no address, as they were going to travel on the continent.

* * * * * * *

It was the middle of the London season, and Lady Althorpe's rooms were crowded with the youth, beauty and elite of the aristocracy. Bustling up to Geraldine, the energetic little hostess exclaimed:

"Don't move away for a minute, dear! I want to introduce Lord John Jasper to you—a most eligible parti, my dear. So handsome, as rich as Crœsus and so delightfully eccentric! Sets up as a woman hater, you know, but if he resists you, my dear, why, I shall give him up altogether."

A minute after she had gone in search of his lordship a well known face caught Geraldine's attention, and the next moment Jack, the boatman, was standing in front of her.

"At last!" he said in a low, deep voice, while his eyes seemed to pierce her through and through.

"Oh, Jack!" cried Geraldine. "What are you doing here?"

"I have come to ask you to finish what you were saying to me when your aunt interrupted our conversation," replied Jack.

"Oh, but isn't it rash of you!" said the poor girl, half inclined to cry. "Suppose any one was to recognize you? I should never forgive myself if you got into trouble through me. Do go away, Jack."

"Tell me you love me, and I will leave you at once if you wish it," answered Jack.

"Oh, I do—I do!" exclaimed Geraldine. "I never knew how much until we were parted, and now please go away. Oh, here comes Lady Althorpe!"

"Ah, Lord John! I was going to introduce you to Lady Geraldine, but it seems as though you have met before," rippled the genial hostess. "Ah, you sly things!"

"Oh, Jack," cried Geraldine when they were once again alone in the crowd, "why did you do this?"

"Because I wished to be loved for myself alone, darling," whispered Lord Jasper. "And I had given up all hope of it, when Providence brought us together at dear old Twickenham ferry."

SEND OUT TWO TIE TRAINS

They Pick Up the Ties as Fast as They Are Cut.

Two new "tie trains" have been put on the north end of the Chicago & Northwestern road. Their business is the picking up of cars loaded with ties which have been cut at intervals along the line. These will be hauled out to the main line and put on the regular freight trains going south. It is expected that between fifty and sixty cars will be picked up and pass through here daily. They will be used in the company's repair work west.

LOETERY STORIES BARRED

The Washington Postal Authorities Will Enforce the Law.

The postal authorities at Washington are very rigid in the enforcement of the lottery law passed several years ago in order to kill off the Louisiana and other concerns. This law, among other things prohibits the circulation through the mails of any newspaper that publishes the reports of lotteries or drawings.

A few weeks ago St. Mary's society of Freeport, gave a bazar at which tickets were sold for chances on several valuable grand prizes. A list of the winners and the number of their tickets was printed in the Freeport Bulletin and the Freeport Journal. Some citizens sent marked copies of these papers to the postmaster general, who gives warning that if lottery reports are published in the future by them the publication will be excluded from the mails.

A PLAGUE OF THE NIGHT

ITCHING PILES AND OTHER RECTAL TROUBLES EASILY CURED BY A NEW AND SAFE METHOD.

A Remarkable Number of Cures Made By The Pyramid Pile Cure.

About one person in every four suffers from some form of rectal disease. The most common and annoying is itching piles, indicated by warmth, slight moisture and intense uncontrolable itching in the parts affected.

The usual treatment has been some simple ointment of salve which sometimes give temporary relief, but nothing like a permanent cure can be expected from such superficial treatment.

The only permanent cure for itching piles yet discovered is the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only for itching piles, but for every other form of piles, blind, bleeding or protruding. The first application gives instant relief, and the continued use for a short time causes a permanent removal of the tumors or the small parasites which cause the intense itching and discomfort of itching piles.

Many physicians for a long time supposed that the remarkable relief afforded by the Pyramid Pile Cure was because it was supposed to contain cocaine, opium or similar drugs, but such is not the case. A recent careful analysis of the remedy showed is to be absolutely free from any cocaine, opium, or in fact any poisonous, injurious drugs whatever.

For this reason the Pyramid Pile Cure is probably the only pile cure extensively recommended by physicians, because it is so safe, so prompt, in the relief afforded and so far as known the only positive cure for piles except a surgical operation.

In one year the Pyramid Pile Co. has become the best known, the safest and the most extensively sold of any pile cure before the public.

Nearly all druggists now sell it at 50 cents and $1 per package.

Address the Pyramid Co., Marshall, Mich., for book on cause of piles and also hundreds of testimonials from all parts of the United States.

If suffering from any form of piles ask your druggist for a package of Pyramid Pile Cure and try it tonight.

GRIT OF A WESTERN WOMAN.

Long Ride of Mrs. West of Seattle With a Broken Rib and Knee.

Few men possess such grit and determination as Mrs. West of Seattle, Wash., is endowed with. Recently while riding her wheel she met with an accident in which she sustained a broken rib, a split kneecap, a painful wound on the face and the loss of four teeth. Thus sorely disabled she pluckily remounted the bicycle, and rode twenty miles to her home. It all came about from being too ambitious to ride down hill. She was an expert bicyclist and had coasted down so many hills that she had long since ceased trying to keep any account of them. It is claimed she would bow only to the noted Mrs. Rhinehart of Denver as her superior in the conduct of the wheel. The road near Lake Washington, where Mrs. West and a friend were taking a little spin, had been hit in the middle with a stone of considerable size, and the stone had remained where it had struck. Mrs. West dismounted when she reached the crest of the hill, but the prospect of coasting was too alluring to be foregone for the safer but more laborious alternative of walking down. She again bestrode the wheel and started back-pedaling down the grade. Unfortunately she failed to observe the rock in her pathway, with the result that the front wheel of the bicycle collided with it and threw the rider over the handle bars several feet forward into the road. She lay unconscious for some time. Her friend, upon reaching her, found her injured as above described, and was hopeless of getting her home or to a place where relief might be summoned. It was a desperate situation. Then it was that true western grit came to the rescue. Rising to her feet, the disabled heroine painfully got upon her wheel and, almost fainting and covered with blood, rode slowly back to her home, a distance of twenty miles. She is progressing favorably, but it is doubtful whether she will ever be able to ride again.

Was a Marshal of France.

Somewhere in the south there is said to be an ancient porcelain mug upon which is engraved, "George Washington, Esq., General-in-Chief of the United States Army and Marshal of France." The mug recalls the fact, so little known, that Washington really was an officer in the armies of the king of France. How the illustrious champion of Yorktown received that title arose in the following way: When old Count Rochambeau came to this country it was speedily made known that he could not serve under Washington, as the old lieutenant general could only be commanded by the king in person or a marshal of France. A way out of the difficulty was found by Col. Laurens, who suggested that King Louis make Washington a "Marechal de France." So it was done, and some of the auxilliaries so addressed Washington at Yorktown.
